

Supervisor Will Propose Program to Aid Sheriff

By KENNETH HAHN
County Supervisor

Upgrading the quality of law enforcement to meet the test of today's eruptive and restless society has taken on greater importance than at any time in our nation's history. The recent experience of events in Chicago has underscored this vital need.

Clearly, it is the duty of those of us in government—not just police personnel but those involved in the administrative aspects of government as well—to insure that law and order will be enforced and that justice will prevail.

It is our solemn duty to provide every opportunity possible to police organizations to enable them to upgrade the quality of service. Because of the demands for highly skilled specialists in police work, it calls for greater educational exposure for our police officers.

MUCH HAS been accomplished by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department and other law enforcement agencies in our country to stress the importance of training, but much more still needs to be done toward encouraging higher education for those men and women engaged in police careers.

During the recent Democratic National Convention, I was in Chicago and witnessed the disturbances there between the police and demonstrators.

Observing the Chicago police, I could not help but reflect upon our law enforcement organizations, particularly our own Sheriff's Department and the Los Angeles Police Department. I was convinced more than ever that we can be justly proud of the kind of

WE HAVE the finest personnel and command anywhere. They are superior in every way.

To meet the great challenge facing us, however, we must continue to upgrade our police services by encouraging personnel to continue their studies in police science beyond the stage of the training academy.

As a means of motivating these young deputies in the service of the Sheriff's Department, I am proposing a program under which the county government would pay for the tuition and books for those who are interested in pursuing advanced courses in police administration in colleges and universities.

MANY of the colleges and universities in our area have excellent courses as a part of their curriculum, and it behooves those who wish to follow a police career to take advantage of them.

Acting upon my notion recently, the Board of Supervisors has instructed the County's Chief Administrative Officer to confer with Sheriff Peter J. Pithess and County Personnel Director Gordon T. Nesvig to study such a program and present it to the Board.

The values of a sound education has been proven time and time again. Of education, Aristotle said: "It is an ornament in prosperity and a refuge in adversity."

The Sheriff's deputy faces his responsibility both in times of prosperity and adversity. We need to give him the valuable tool of education so he can discharge more effectively and efficiently that responsibility.

Seminars Set for Women

Two UCLA Extension workshops pointing the way to personal growth and greater rewards in family living will be offered South Bay women, beginning this month in two locations.

"Developing Personal Potential," for women who feel they have unused or misused potential, will meet for ten Wednesdays, Sept. 18 to Nov. 20, 12:30 to 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Reginald Barr, 25829 Hillworth, Lomita.

Geared to the special needs of women, the workshop will provide a supportive group setting for individuals to explore the possibilities for maximum growth and self-fulfillment. Using a variety of planned and positive experiences, trained leaders will guide each participant in uncovering personal strengths as a step toward fully utilizing her abilities and resources.

A TEN-WEEK workshop in "New Dimensions in Family Living" offers women an accepting atmosphere in which to explore personal attitudes directly affecting members of their families. The new weekly program begins Tuesday, Sept. 17, 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Charles Bordeck, 26620 Basswood Ave., Palos Verdes Peninsula.

The course is designed and supervised by Dr. Phyllis Y. H. Liu, clinical psychologist and associate director of the marriage counseling program at the UCLA Counseling Center. Trained co-leaders are assigned to the group.

Torrance Police Set Show Date

A two-hour variety show featuring professional talent will highlight this year's Torrance Police Show and Dance.

Boasting the theme "Theater-in-the-Round," the event is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 23, beginning at 8:30 p.m., in the Long Beach Arena.

Following the program, a full orchestra will provide music for dancing until 1 a.m. Tickets are $5 per family.

Officer Don Hartel, chairman of the Torrance Police Officers Association, said that proceeds from the event will benefit the TPOA's youth and benevolent programs.
